

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON
AT SEATTLE

JESSICA RENEE DEAKIN,

Plaintiff,

v.

HERMAN PEARL COMPANY d/b/a
ANDOVER BRANDS,

Defendant.

CASE NO. 25-cv-00839-JHC

ORDER

I

INTRODUCTION

This matter comes before the Court on Plaintiff's Motion to Appoint Counsel. Dkt. # 6. Plaintiff claims discrimination in employment under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, 42 U.S.C. §§ 2000e, et seq., and the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), 42 U.S.C. §§ 12112, et seq. For the reasons below, the Court DIRECTS the Clerk to identify counsel from the Pro Bono Panel who is willing to represent Plaintiff in this action.

II

BACKGROUND

Plaintiff proceeds pro se and in forma pauperis (IFP) and she alleges her employment was wrongfully terminated due to her disability. Dkt. # 4 at 4. She says that after being injured in a car accident, her former employer initially reassured her that her job was safe and that she should take as much time as needed to recover. Id. at 9. She claims that she then received a termination letter because of her disability and request for accommodations. Id. at 8. She further alleges that Defendant has accommodated other employees' disabilities. Id. at 9.

Plaintiff submitted these claims to the EEOC and received a notice of her right to sue. Dkt. # 6-1. Plaintiff has also contacted 14 law firms to represent her. Dkt. # 6 at 2. On two separate occasions, her representation was dropped due to her attorneys' workload. Id. And she has been otherwise unable to find legal representation. Id.

III

DISCUSSION

The Court may ask for an attorney to represent a pro se plaintiff in a Title VII civil rights action. See 42 U.S.C. § 2000e-5(f)(1) (providing for the appointment of counsel); 42 U.S.C. § 12117(a) (providing that 42 U.S.C. § 2000e-5 applies to ADA claims against employers). A court considers three factors when determining whether counsel should be appointed: "(1) the plaintiff's financial resources; (2) the efforts made by the plaintiff to secure counsel on his or her own; and (3) the merit of the plaintiff's claim." Johnson v. U.S. Dep't of Treasury, 939 F.2d 820, 824 (9th Cir. 1991).

Plaintiff satisfies the first factor because she is proceeding in forma pauperis (IFP) and represents that her monthly expenses are far greater than her income and savings. Dkt. # 1. The second factor is similarly met because Plaintiff has made diligent efforts to find representation on her own. Dkt. # 6 at 2. Although the Court cannot yet fully weigh the merits of Plaintiffs' claims, the third factor is also met because Plaintiff makes factual allegations that plausibly state discrimination claims. Dkt. # 4 at 4–9.

IV

CONCLUSION

Accordingly, the Court DIRECTS:

1. The Clerk of the Court to identify counsel from the Pro Bono Panel who is willing to represent Plaintiff in this action by July 11, 2025. If the Clerk timely identifies pro bono counsel, the Court will issue an order of appointment; if not, the Court will be unable to appoint counsel for Plaintiff.
2. The Clerk of the Court to re-note Plaintiff's Motion to Appoint Counsel, Dkt. # 6, for July 11, 2025.

Plaintiff is reminded that this referral does not guarantee counsel will be appointed. Once Plaintiff's motion is resolved, the Court will address any other issues that may be pending at that time.

Dated this 11th day of June, 2025.
